Mini-Video Introduction
Assignment Instructions

WeVideo is unique in that it allows users to create and edit videos in the cloud. For this assignment we will use the free version of WeVideo (www.wevideo.com). During your Digital Video Essay tutorial you will create a mini-video essay. We will go through these steps together, but what you will need to do is bring the following to class:

1) 10-15 images
2) A written narration that will go with your images
3) Head phones (so you can listen to and insert background music and/or audio narration)
4) Optional: Audio narration (that should last about 1-2 minutes, which will range from 150-300 words)

Guidelines for composing your narration:

Now it’s your turn to try out WeVideo. For this activity, you will create a brief (under 1 minute) video to introduce yourself to the rest of the class. In your narration, you should include the following background information:

a) your name,
b) where you are from / where you grew up (this could be multiple places),
c) where you live now, and
d) what interests you about this course.

Collecting your video clips & images:

You can use video and/or still images to help tell your story. For example, you should include a screen capture of a map that locates either your home town or current city/town, or both! You can choose what scale map(s) to include--whether it should focus on the level of the neighborhood, city, state, or country. Just remember, you are trying to help the viewer locate where you are in reference to other geographical places that they may be familiar with.
