As this is the first time this class is being taught, I know it is a daunting task to try to teach brand new material. While taking this into consideration it felt as if at certain times that the work that was being given to us was rushed out, with many errors and questions that were repeated or not very clear. However I think that you did a great job at making up for the mistakes and was responsive and helpful in trying to correct the errors. Also the class is super interesting to me, but can be bland for someone who isn't into demographics and trend equations.

It can be a very scary class to try to take and I am not sure how you could make it a less scary class to try to take for someone not in the urban planning world.

none

This was the first time this class was taught, so there is always room for improvement. I just felt that sometimes we focused on topics for too long of a time, and it would have been more productive if we moved on from topics quicker. I feel that the end of the semester has been quite rushed and we are skipping over things that we intended to do earlier in the semester.

material is overwhelming, maybe make coursework assignments less heavy

I would suggest that the courseworks and exams be double checked for duplicate questions and other errors before handing them out to the students. I completely understand that this is a new course, so I was very happy with how the course went as a whole.

The course appeared somewhat disorganized and we did not get to a decent portion of material on the midterm because we missed three classes. Course felt oddly paced; It was slow throughout and then rushed at the end.

14. Please reflect on your experience in this course. Did the instructor foster a productive learning environment?

I think that the learning environment.

I learned a lot about Urban Planning

With it being the first semester this professor taught this course, the content was interesting and presented in an organized manner. Content and assignments were adjusted based on student feedback, which was very helpful. The courseworks were well aligned with the tests which helped give us content to study and prepare for the tests.

Professor Le Vine is quite truly an amazing professor. You can't go wrong taking one of his classes, and I always enjoyed going to this class. Professor Le Vine is always there to help you and wants to see you succeed, he is a student's first teacher and is always willing to adapt his classes for the benefit of his students.

I have taken a course with Scott every semester since starting Geography and it is always worth it! While this course was a learning experience for everyone, I felt that I learned a lot and enjoyed coming to this class.

Wish that there was more material covered throughout the course.

Was a productive learning environment, but we skipped a lot of content.
