

WELCOME TO WOM220!

INTRODUCTION TO WOMEN'S, GENDER, AND SEXUALITY STUDIES

SPRING 2020
4.0 CREDITS

LECTURE: T/F 11:25-12:15PM

SECTION: T/F 12:30-1:20PM

Dr. Heather Hewett

Janet Werther

Dr. Jessica Pabón

1

COURSE STRUCTURE

Welcome to Lecture!

- 11:25-12:15pm
- Sit in your assigned rows (attendance)

Sections

- There are 3 sections this semester. Check your schedule for your section professor.
- 12:30-1:20pm

We will go over the course syllabus individually in section.

2

WHO ARE YOUR PROFESSORS?

Section 1: Dr. Jessica Pabón

Section 2: Dr. Heather Hewett

Section 3: Janet Werther

Dr. Heather Hewett

Janet Werther

Dr. Jessica Pabón

3

MENTIMETER

Go to www.menti.com and use the code 43 32 95

Why does feminism matter?

4

WHAT WILL WE DO IN THIS COURSE?

explore theories about women, gender, and sexuality through interdisciplinary and disciplinary lenses such as anthropology, biology, political economy, history, literary studies, politics, philosophy, and sociology focus on the ways that (a) ideas, identities, norms, and practices associated with gender and sexuality are embedded in social institutions; (b) how those institutions influence our lives; and (c) how they confer privileges to some groups and disadvantages to others analyze both interpersonal and structural forms of power (and their relationship to one another) by applying a feminist intersectional perspective to an analysis of identity and experience.

5